4 March 2018

Third Sunday of Lent (B)

Entrance Antiphon: My eyes are always on the Lord, for he rescues my feet from the snare. Turn to me and have mercy on me, for I am alone and poor.

Responsorial psalm: You, Lord, have the message of eternal life (Ps 18).

Gospel Acclamation: Praise to you, O Christ, king of eternal glory! I am the resurrection and the life, says the Lord, whoever believes in me will never die. Praise to you, O Christ, king of eternal glory!

Communion Antiphon: The sparrow herself finds a home, and the swallow a nest for her young; by your altars, O Lord of hosts, my King and my God. Blessed are they who dwell in your house, for ever singing your praise.

SUNDAY COLLECTION: £554.25

Many thanks for your generosity

FEASTS OF THE WEEK

FAIRTRADE STALL – this weekend at the 11am Mass.

PARISH PASTORAL COUNCIL – an announcement will be soon, remembering that the new parish council will be installed on the Feast of St Joseph, Mon 19 Mar, beginning with a 7pm Mass.

Our Wee Community: I had to attend a meeting in London this week, getting the train down on Tuesday and back on Wednesday. The train ploughed through a couple of blizzards and got stuck for while in Newcastle, waiting for the driver to arrive. Fair dues to Virgin Trains, we were only two hours late.

I read an interesting book on the train, The Benedict Option by Rod Dreher, a bestseller in the US. In the face of rampant secularism, it calls on Christians to retreat to their own sacred enclaves, with their own schools and parishes with sympathetic clergy, seeking inspiration from St Benedict whose monasteries saved Christian civilisation as the Roman one collapsed. There is a similar urgency today to save what's left of western society, he argues. Gripping stuff but fundamentally flawed. St Augustine also lived during the decline of the Roman Empire, but his solution was for Christians to be engaged in society to redeem it. Retreating from the world, no matter how toxic, is no solution.
